Sensys Gatso Group has chosen Kepler Cheuvreux for research coverage, in addition to Carnegie

Sensys Gatso Group, a global leader in traffic safety solutions, has chosen Kepler Cheuvreux to cover its independent research for investors. Kepler Cheuvreux will be the second analyst firm Sensys Gatso uses next to Carnegie Investment Bank AB, formerly known as Erik Penser Bank.

Kepler Cheuvreux will start their coverage with an initial company and market review report in Q1 2024, followed by quarterly analyst reporting and event coverage.

"For the past seven years, we have been on a steady growth path and we have communicated financial goals to further grow both our topline and our profitability. Most of this growth is expected to come from outside of our home market Sweden. With Kepler Cheuvreux we have contracted a well recognized equity research firm that provides independent analyst services, targeting an international investor base. With both Kepler and Carnegie covering us, we now have the possibility to present Sensys Gatso's growth story within their networks of international investors", said Ivo Mönnink, CEO and President of Sensys Gatso Group AB.
