Order from Australia worth SEK 5.8 million

Sensys Gatso Group, a global leader in traffic safety solutions, has through its subsidiary Sensys Gatso Australia, received an order worth AUD 0.9 million, corresponding to SEK 5.8 million, for new traffic safety systems supply and services to the New South Wales Government.

The order is for the supply and installation of new traffic safety systems at selected highway sites in the State of New South Wales. The supply and installation services are expected to be completed by the end of 2018.

Sensys Gatso Australia's Operations Manager Paul Holschier comments: "The installation of new traffic safety system technology at the selected highway locations will help to expand the existing network of traffic safety systems across the state of New South Wales. We are pleased to assist the State of NSW in the ongoing reduction of injuries and fatalities across the road network with our high integrity solutions."
