Sensys Gatso wins Managed Services contract for Upper Marlboro, Maryland worth estimated SEK 9 Million

Sensys Gatso Group, a global leader in traffic safety solutions, through its subsidiary, Sensys Gatso USA, will be providing a speed and red light photo enforcement program to the town of Upper Marlboro, Maryland, USA.

New to photo enforcement, the town of Upper Marlboro has selected Sensys Gatso USA as their Managed Services provider for a program consisting of two fixed speed cameras in school zones and two red light intersection cameras. Under this four-year contract, Sensys Gatso will handle the camera installation, maintenance and personnel training, as well as the entire fulfillment process, which includes citations mailing and payment processing. The program is likely to begin in July of this year.

"Whenever we have the opportunity to work with a town that is new to photo enforcement we can tailor the program to meet their most immediate concerns, which, at this point in time, is school zone safety" says Rich Kosina, Chief Technology Officer, Sensys Gatso USA.
